

2025 european energy storage battery exhibition

What will the European battery storage market look like in 2025?

In 2020, the European residential battery storage market, led by Germany, Italy, the UK, and Austria, installed 965 MWh of capacity, which is 90% of the total 1,072 MWh installed in Europe that year. By 2025, we expect significant growth in annual capacity, but the main players are expected to remain the same.
